SAINT JOAN DE KIRKIBARA

Get ready for the vibrant rhythm of this modern, cosmopolitan city. Kirkibara, the imposing capital of Flut Island, hums with energy, its streets carrying the pulse of centuries of trade. And, why deny it? Its nightlife is just as renowned, drawing well-known figures who keep the city shining long after sunset.

THE MARRADARS REGION

Explore this region from top to bottom and let its beauty draw you in. Dry-stone terraces sweep along the mountainsides, cradling olive groves, almond trees, and vineyards. Follow the winding valleys as they lead you gently down to the sea, passing the famed Temple of Neptune along the way. Here, sea, mountains, and charming villages blend into one vivid, unforgettable landscape.

MOUNT MAKCHIA

Can't decide between sea or mountain, leisure or culture? Choose Mount Makchia and leave all your dilemmas behind. Here, you'll find it all: quiet beaches shaped by old fishing traditions, river paths that lead you through fertile valleys cultivated since ancient times, and - of course - the famed Church of Saint Roro the Martyr, a Renaissance jewel not to be missed.

THE PULAIRAB REGION

Exploring this corner of the island is sure to leave you captivated. Gaze out from its rugged cliffs, where the sea stretches endlessly below, or lose yourself in rolling vineyards and olive groves cut through by old, dry streambeds that mark the rhythm of past waters. Follow these gentle lines of the land and you'll arrive at its small yet lively urban centre. The whole region feels like a journey woven between coast and countryside, where the sea and the inland meet in a quiet, enduring harmony.

THE POLIGOLAD REGION

Here, the river winds gently through the land, gathering in serene reservoirs at the foot of the island's central mountains. It's a landscape made for quiet moments, where you can rest by the water's edge or wander the streets of its small urban centre, dotted with green spaces and tranquil pools. Everything here invites reflection, offering a calm pause between mountain and rive

BIGURVY

Set in one of the island's most privileged locations, Bigurvy and its surroundings unfold in gentle valleys and fertile lands, where urban life blends effortlessly with broad farmlands and quiet forests. Wander through its streets to appreciate a history shaped by industry and ingenuity, and pause on the many bridges that cross its rivers and streams - each offering sweeping views of the city's natural embrace. And, of course, don't miss a visit to the F.C. Bigurvy stadium, home to the most decorated team on the entire island!
